Your RRSP or RRIF can create a legacy of support

Donating registered assets such as a Registered Retirement Savings Plan (RRSP) or a Registered Retirement Income Fund (RRIF) allows you to create a legacy for The Ottawa Mission – once your needs and those of your loved ones have been met. Donating all or part of an RRSP or RRIF is an effective way to reduce the taxes payable by your estate.

If you pass away without a surviving spouse or qualifying dependents, the remaining value of your RRSP or RRIF is added to your income in the year of death, often generating large tax liabilities for your estate. If you leave your RRSP or RRIF to The Ottawa Mission Foundation, however, your estate will receive a donation receipt for the entire value of the plan. This will help to offset any tax liability.

HOW DOES IT WORK?

There are two ways to donate the proceeds of an RRSP or RRIF:

1. You can name The Ottawa Mission Foundation as the direct beneficiary. Upon your death, the proceeds will be paid directly to the Foundation without going through probate.
2. You can name your estate as the beneficiary of your RRSP or RRIF and leave instructions in your will to donate all or part to The Ottawa Mission Foundation. You may specify a percentage of the RRSP or RRIF to be gifted or a specific dollar amount. The donation qualifies for the charitable will bequest donation tax credit for up to 100% of income in the year of death and in the year preceding. Please know that when choosing this option, your executor will withhold taxes and probate will apply.
